

Harnessing Intelligence in Credit and Collections

AI-Powered Credit and Collection Management

Rimilia Collect™ is an intelligent credit and collection management solution that offers unique insights into your customer's payment behavior. This ensures you're chasing your customer in the most effective way. Traditional collection methods are focused around aging, risk and value. The key missing ingredient is always customer payment behavior.

Rimilia Collect utilizes Artificial Intelligence to continually learn and predict customer payments in order to forecast your collections more accurately, ensure your time is used most efficiently, and optimize cash collected.

Key Features

- Real-time cash flow forecasting
- Real-time integration into Rimilia Cash™ application
- Fully-adaptable debt strategies based on payment and risk performance
- Electronic delivery of customer statements and overdue letters
- Debt, risk and payment performance data in one place
- Import any external risk data and compare with payment performance from Rimilia Cash
- Allows teams to focus on value-add tasks rather than manual activity
- Event management workflow to assist team performance reviews and KPI setting

Risk Free and Quick Return on Investment

Working either standalone, or integrated into Rimilia Cash, with out-of-the-box integration into ERPs that require little IT involvement, you can be up and running within 8-12 weeks, gaining a substantial and quick return on investment. Our low-risk offer means we can analyze your data in advance to prove expected success and business value.
